About Caring for Life.

The Caring for Life Foundation, a registered not-for-profit trust, has been improving the quality of healthcare in the Cayman Islands for over a decade.

Founded on November 10, 2010, the mission of the Caring for Life Foundation is to help improve the quality of healthcare in the Cayman Islands building a healthier and happier community for future generations to come. To achieve this mission the Caring for Life Foundation works closely with hospitals and healthcare providers to identify the critical needs of the local healthcare industry and funding gaps to fulfill these needs. Funds raised through charitable donations allow the Caring for Life Foundation to provide much needed funding to fill funding gaps and provide critical medical equipment to ensure the Cayman Islands can continue to provide the highest standard of healthcare to the local community. Funding through the Foundation provides support for the:

- Purchase of new and upgraded medical, diagnostic, and surgical equipment;
- Training and certification of medical staff;
- Research and education in the medical, diagnostic, and surgical fields; and
- Aid of facility expansion.

What we have achieved.

To date, the Caring for Life Foundation has supported the purchase various critical medical and diagnostic equipment to the Health Services Authority and was instrumental in the purchase of the islands first Genome Surveillance System to detect the type of Covid-19 strain. The Cayman Islands was the first jurisdiction in the region to boast this variant detecting equipment. Below are some of the items the Caring for Life Foundation has aided in purchasing.
